It's a sad commentary on the times Dept.:

We "cry" our eyes out be cause there's a shortage of teachers to man our classrooms and because college can didates bypass teacher training. But when we do get 'em, we turn around and boot 'em right out.

Take the case of Joe Moltane, an example before us in our own backyard. Joe has had the job of teaching our sixth graders at the local knowledge factory. He also drove the school bus on its daily rounds.

He has a college degree that qualifies him for teaching, and while here he has worked toward his master's-just to help make himself more valuable to us. He paid his own tuition. of course. It was an invest-

But while doing all this, he had a few worries of his owna family with a couple of kids. We paid him $2800 a year as a teacher. He couldn't support his family decently on that amount. So on weekends he worked in a restaurant in Azusa where he lived.

Any good businessman gets a reasonable return on his investment. He expects it, or he gets out of business. And his customers don't expect him to stay in business for nothing.

That, however, seems to be just exactly what we expect of our teachers. And then we wonder why good teachers are hard to come by.

Joe Moltane is quitting his job. He's going back to New Jersey. And he's not going back to the classroom. He'll open some kind of a business where the customers will give him a reasonable chance to make a

We scoff at teaching of the Three R fundamentals. But maybe we better cling to that until we're ready for something better.

So this being education week, we'll have to pass on the amazed reaction of an easterner to the progressive curriculum of a Southern California school which dazzled his youngster. The kid reported his progress, from month to month, in such studies as roller-skating, Indian yells, wading, swimming, firemaking, fireextinguishing, softball, hard ball, top-spinning and other frings. What topped them all. however, was the youngster's announcement that the next day he was to begin a course in tree-climbing. He hadn't yet touched, apparently, Reading, 'Riting and 'Rithmetic.

It's really a blend of many things: The prescription department, stocked with the latest products of medical science: The shelves of bright, attractive merchandise. The friendly surroundings . . . often with the familiar soda fountain inviting you to refreshment. The everpresent spirit of community

And the pharmacist himself is essentially a product of America -where one finds a larger number of skilled professional men than in any other country. Sierra Madre's own Blackfoot Tribe of the Father and Son "Y" Indian Guides will entertain the Crow Tribe of Arcaria and the Chumash Tribe of Monrovia tomorrow evening (Friday, May 27) at the Youth

This will be the first occasion for the Blackfeet to act as hosts for an inter-tribal pow-wow. The Chumash are the tribe of Pierre Kenyon (Chief Wise Owl), District YM-CA Secretary. The Crow Tribe, led by Chief Golden Eagle, officiated at the official induction of the Blackfeet into the Area and National Longhouses of the Father and Son "Y" Indian Guides in March.

The Blackfeet hiked to Camp Ivy last Sunday and prepared a meal over a camp-fire. The little braves investigated with all five senses (including the sense of touch) the fauna (including a gopher snake and "Alexander the Salamander") and the flora (including stinging nettles).

The Blackfeet Tribe consists of little braves (sons): Steve Perlof, Johnny Rule, Larry Danvers, Smoky Bush, Jan Hoover, Nickey Hawkins, Wally Clardy, Roger Berkshire, Johnny Born and Sammy Kirk, Jr. Big Braves (fathers): Sam Kirk, Sam Perlof, Jim Rule, Barney Danvers, Joe Bush, Clyde Hoover, Murray Hawkins, Harold Clardy, Doug Berkshire and Al

Large Crowd See Best Boy Scout Camporee

Sierra Madre with the largest visitor attendance in history.

Fifty-three Scouts and Seniors, under the leadership of thirteen registered Scouters, performed their activities before a crowd of more than 300 interested spectators.Living exactly as if they were camped in the wilderness, they slept, cooked, and lived with Mother Nature.

The Pre-Camporee parade through town was a heart-filling sight, with music supplied by the Cub Scouts. The parade ended at the camp area, where the boys immediately started pitching camp. The remainder of the afternoon was spent setting up their exhibits and demonstrating them, along with other Scout handicrafts.

After the evening meal, the campers had their traditional campfire and program. Jim Carlson, Explorers, acted as Master of Ceremonies which gave him credit toward his rank of Frontiersman. His unit also lit the campfire by the novel act of a flaming arrow shot through the air into the fire pit, which ignited as it landed.

The program consisted of games, both serious and hilari- afternoon, a bunch of tired but ous, competitions and music supplied by Cub Henry Castella on his accordion. The Sea Scouts put on a "Scuttlebutt" demonstration, which turned into a competitive sport. The fire circle, which had a large visitor crowd too, ended with Richard Wright, Troop Four, leading in the Benediction.

Right now is the time to give untold credit to the Explorers and Sea Scouts who acted as any troublesome intruders and Presidential Award. to keep the camp under con-

This year's Camporee was the trol. They also acted as guides most successful ever seen in to visitors, and helped carry out disciplinary orders from the staff tent. The Explorers also had their tent-trailer set up for a First Aid Station.

After Sunday breakfast came the job of inspection and judging the units. This period was the basic element on which the individual Patrols earned their awards, making up the overall number of points needed for the Troops to win a Camporee recognition.

Finishing this, the boys gathered for Church Services, conducted by Father H. G. Smith from the Episcopal Church. The Catholic Scouts attended the Holy Angels Church in Ar cadia. After Church, a Scouter from the Philippine Islands. who was introduced as Bob Zalderiaga, gave a very fine talk on the Scout activities in the islands, especially during the war and of the important part they played to the U.S.

Next on the agenda was the recreation period, which also included the Explorers building a "Monkey Bridge" beside the signal tower they had previously built.

By the time the final assembly was called Sunday enthused boys lined up to hear the results of the judges. Troop One, with eleven boys and two leaders present, won the Standard Award; Troop Two, having seven boys and two Scout. ers, took the Proficiency Ribbon; Troop Three copped the Standard Award with eight boys and two adults on deck; having thirteen Scouts with three Scouters helped Troop Four walk off with top honors camp area patrol to keep out of the Camporee-namely, the

High School Board Vote Is Next June 3

Eleven candidates this week were in the race for three positions on the Pasadena Board of Education. Election of board members will be held Friday, Sierra Madreans are eligible to vote in the election because this board is the governing body of the Pasadena High School district which includes Sierra Madre, Altadena, La Canada and Temple City as well as county territory.

Two incumbents are seeking re-election. They are Attorney Vernon L. Brydolf of Altadena and Gladys C. Rinehart. W. L. Blair, a member of the board for 20 years, is not seeking reelection.

Other candidates are Dudley Atkins, Sr., Altadena, civil engineer; William A. Blair, Pasadena, beverage manufacturer; E. K. Davis, Pasadena, sav. ings and loan association officer; Dr. Leonard C. Emery, Pasadena, optometrist; James C. Greene, Pasadena, attorney; Lawrence C. Lamb, Altadena, funeral director; Robert H. Royster, Altadena, salesman; Dr. A. R. Traylor, Pasadena, physician, and Mrs. Sigrid Ward, Pasadena, housewife.

Sierra Madreans will vote at the public school on Highland avenue. Poll will be open from 7 a. m. until 7 p. m. Election officials here are Helen K. Smythe, inspector, and Marie C. Lord and Juanita W. Caskey, judges.

COLORADO RIVER AUTHORITY AT PRO-AMERICA MEET

Mr. Ed Ainsworth, noted author and newspaper man will address the luncheon meeting of the Foothill Towns Unit of Pro-America on June 3 at the Oak Tree Inn, 3732 East Foothill Blvd., Pasadena. His subject will be "Feud At The Last Waterhole."

Mr. Ainsworth is an authority on the Colorado River Water problem. He has spent years getting this information and has just returned from an expedition into the lesser known parts of the river.

Mrs. Fred H. Morgan, Chairman of the meeting says this is an unusual opportunity to the Explorers and Sea Scouts acquire first hand knowledge for the fine part they played of a vital issue whose outcome

COUNCIL GETS RULES

The committee pointed out that an official transcript of the full proceedings at the hearing must be made and certified. Should the council adopt a decontrol resolution, it does not become effective until it has been approved by the governor and acknowledged by the Federal housing expediter.

"The action of the governing body on any local rent decontrol resolution must be tak en on the basis of FACTS, osophy, attitude and opinion unsupported by the facts," the committee said. This, the committee said. was the most important and necessary single policy facing a city council.

The committee further pointed out that the city council must place the "burden of proof and the obligation to supply facts on the persons filing the petition and proposing decontrol."

The whole point on which a recommendation of decontrol rests is whether or not there exists a shortage of rental properties to warrant continuation of rent control.

Petitioners should bring forth "some indications of the price levels of vacancies for sale and rent levels of vacancies for rent," the committee's report said.

Wistaria Weavers are Having Growing Pains

Square dancing is catching fire like September weeds in Sier ra Madre. (ONE fire we don't want put OUT.)

To the Wistaria Weavers go all the credit for the igniting spark. Credit, praise and hearty community thanks. And to callers Homer Althouse and Jack Pattison go the square dancers' appreciative pant. Tonight the Weavers swing again. Grammar school youngsters from 7:30 to 8:15; adults from 8:30 to 11:00. So don't be disheartened if you thought you missed the regular fourth Wednesday session last night. It wasn't-due to the fact that the Annual Congregational Church meeting was held in Pritchard Hall at that time. "Coffee and" will be served at the close of the evening by Mr and Mrs. Jim Ware and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Green.

It all started a year ago when an adult square dance group calling themselves the Wistaria Weavers began meeting one night a month in Pritchard Hall at the Congregational Church. When popu lar request pressed for more of this friendly recreation, the Wistaria Weavers expanded their meetings to the second and fourth Wednesdays of each

It was not long until the smaller fry wanted to be in on this "Age-no-limit" fun. So the Weavers opened their arms on Wednesday nights to let the Grammar Schoolers have their inning in the hour preceding the adult squares, and expanded further to take in Junior High youngsters and Teen Agers on the second and fourth Fridays.

As might be expected, the youngsters who turned out in droves on Wednesday evenings had so much fun they didn't want to leave. Poor Mom and were caught in the squeeze, with the adult festivities getting started too late. So, to give the "Young old folks" a break and let them get their fair share of the fun they started, the Grammar School youngsters are now end-

FIRE FLAMES

Two fire calls during the past month could have resulted in something serious. Each one was plainly a case of carelessness and thoughtlessness. We are entering the period when we cannot afford to allow fires to get started. There is absolutely no sense in 'taking chances

If children are permitted to play wth matches, we can expect trouble. Matches MUST be kept from them. If small children are denied the right to strike matches, and the matches are left within reach, there is always that temptation to steal away with some to some spot that is secretive and hazardous. Keep matches away from children. If we burn in the open amid dry weeds and dry house roofs, we can again expect trouble. Sooner or later, we will get it. Good fortune will not always protect us. Once in thousand times will be enough for a fire to get away and start a home afire. This could easily be the time when a wind was blowing just the right speed to spread the fire from one place to another.

Last Friday found the Lorris drill crew in Altadena at the County Fire Station where the men were given training in fire fighting. Next Friday, Udell's crew will attend the same routine. Preparations are being made for the forthcoming competitive drills. So successful was the last drill competition that it has been agreed that they continue.

More time is needed for inspection of yards. It doesn't seem to matter how much is written or spoken about the danger of poor incinerators and open burning there are those who do not heed. Even at this day and age, fire fighters will find a long time resident (who knows better) burning papers or rubbish in the incinerator with weeds and grass growing right to the base of it. Once too often is enough. We must give up the idea that because we have escaped fire for many, many years, we are not going to have one. It can happen and Norris, Heasley and Grippi attended the meeting of fire fighters held in El Monte last Saturday evening. Utable to be present at the afternoon business meeting, the boys reported a fine dinner and a good show that followed, beginning at five P. M. A sort of a pre-convention of the Southern Fire Fighters. The State Fire Fighters' Convention will be held at Big Bear Lake this year sometime in September. The usuai Sierra Madre group will be present.

Tuesday Is Deadline Appointments Open to For Vets' Exemption

Sierra Madre veterans have through next Tuesday to apply for $1000 property tax exemptions for 1949-50. County Assessor John R.

Quinn warned that the deadline was 5 p. m. of that day There are two vacancies for The same deadline applies to entrance in July, 1950, to the churches seeking tax exemptions. Veterans or their wives may file for the exemption at the assessor's main office, Hall of Justice, Los Angeles.

Being so near home, more will visit. Fire-Fighters from all parts of California will be at Big Bear Lake and a fine Convention is expected. Such an experiment in the northern part of the State a few years ago proved very fine. Big Bear is planning much to entertain the visiting fire fighters as well as to make for com-

As for the locals making the trip, there is a certain group that will have some reason or other to go to Big Bear by way of New York or Pittsburg. At least via Las Vegas. Nevada. Because of the report of the last Convention trip, there probably will be more attempting it this year.

The recent rains helped for the time being. It did not stop the drying of the over-ripe wild oats and weeds. Dryness prevails from now until next year's growth appears. It means that we will have to be very careful from here on out. Do not do any burning without the help and advice of a fire officer. It is so important that the Angeles National Forestry Department have a patrolman in our vicinity. The importance of keeping fire from the region can be judged from this.

The local fire department will be making every effort possible to prevent fires. All realize the need of the brush to cover the sides of the mountains. Once removed, until the return growth, there is nothing to retain the top soil and preserve the water from run-off It's all for the benefit of all and all are called upon to help Help the fire department to help you as well as your neighbors. If we pull together, we'll keep the FIRES OUT.

EXHIBIT OF ISRAELI ARTISTS

In a move to familiarize the people of this community with the culture of the new Israeli state, the Israel Consul in Los Angeles, Reuven Dafni, the Los Angeles Chapter of Hadassah and the Beverly-Fairfax Community Center are sponsoring an exhibition of the work of six leading Israeli artists.

The exhibit opened last week in the art gallery of the Beverly Fairfax Center, 8008 Beverly Boulevard, Los Angeles, and will continue for three weeks only.

Over 100 etchings, water colors, woodcuts and wash drawings will be included.

Artists represented will be Jakob Steinhardt, Joseph Budko, F. Ascheim, Ludwig Schwerin. Francisca Baruch and Jacob Pins. All with the exception of Pins, were highly successful and prominent in Eu rope before the advent of Hitler, and before they migrated to Palestine. Budko died during World War II. Pins, a young man of 32, developed his talents in Palestine where he had gone to labor on one of the collective farms.

The exhibition was secured by Dr. Leon Kolb, noted San Francisco art patron, expert and collector. All paintings were shipped directly from Israel to San Francisco and then brought to Los Angeles by Dr.

Come Out! Join in the Fun of City Recreation

National Park and Recreation Week (May 21-30) is an all-year affair in Sierra Madre, states Samuel McElfresh, Recreation Director. A regular program of recreational and character-building activities is provided continuously for the small-fry, teen agers and the grownups of the community.

Small fry find fun and friends in the after-school program of games and stories at the Grammar School.

Character-building groups of Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, and YMCA Indians hold their regular weekly meetings in the churches, schools, Youth Hut and private homes throughout the city. Special events such as the recent Boy Scout Camporee and the Girl Scouts Festival Pageant bring the youngsters together in programs of entertainment and education for both themselves and the com-

Grammar school youngsters are offered the opportunity to learn square dancing at the Congregational Church. (And do they turn out for it!)

Teen agers are "mad for" the regular Friday night dances provided for them at the Park

The number of grownups turning out for their bi-monthly sessions of square dancing at the Congregational Church has been growing steadily. And proficient lampshade-makers are being produced in the intriguing lampshade Wednesday morning classes offered at the Woman's Clubhouse.

The facilities at the City Park provide recreation for young and old alike, at all times. The park grounds, play equipment and Toy Loan are free for youngsters to enjoy the year around. Tennis courts are open day and night. Varied programs of recreation are provided for teen agers and grownups on Monday and Wednesday evenings. Horseshoes and shuffleboard are yours for the playing at any time; and the daily competition of the "young oldsters" is something to see-or join in.

You can usually find a volleyball game going on Sundays. And family picnics are fun, especially at the newly painted picnic tables.

Boys and young men are provided overhand softball by the VFW and hardball by the American Legion. (And the rest of us can Betake Us to the Ball

The Chamber of Commerce, in a letter, asked that the city do SOMETHING-fence it in, cut the weeds-to make it less unsightly. It's a shame, the tery was being "used."

Chamber said, that it receives attention only on Memorial

It was pointed out, however, that the cemetery is private property owned by a defunct corporation.

"There are people there even if they aren't alive," he said. "It's a difficult problem. It would be a rather involved matter for the city to acquire

Councilman Henry Nuetzel pointed out that a set of rules set up by the League of California Cities for rent decontrol hearings had been given to the "interested parties" in the event they wished to follow through with their demands for a hearing.

Richard S. Dawson of 425 Manzanita avenue complained to the Council that property owners at 470 Manzanita had converted a house in an R-1 zone into a three-family dwelling and planned on using a garage as a warehouse.

City Engineer William V. Tayc, however, said that an in vestigation had showed that the owners of that property were not in violation of the zoning ordinance, and no business was now being carried on in violation of the law.

The Red Cross notified the Council that it no longer would be able to continue payments to the Pasadena Visiting Nurses Association for services

Cost to the Red Cross this fiscal year through March 31 was $477.16, R. C. Lewis, president of the Sierra Madre chapter of the Red Cross, said. "For the fiscal year beginning July 1, there will be no money to meet this service, and I hope sufficient city funds will be available for this

Cornyn was asked to make a survey to see what other cities of comparable size do about such charity services.

vas asked to study a request of the Sierra Madre Nursery School Association for permission to use the city-owned Youth Hut for morning child

A letter signed by Mrs. How. ell White, Jr., president of the association, said that plans were being made for construction of a pre-school building. Children are now cared for at the Congregational Church with a play area in the city park.

The association pointed out that it would pay for upkeep of the building and provide for necessary structural changes to meet state requirements.

Al Miller of 550 N. Hermosa wenue appeared before the Council in an attempt to force Paul Barksdale D'Orr to remove a hedge from the easement in front of the latter's ome at 170 W. Carter avenue. Miller, who also had petitioned the Planning Commission. said it was a fire hazard and was unsightly and also prevented him from selling a lot ocross the street because a prospective buyer objected to red spiders.

A letter signed by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth M. Bush of 191 W. Carter avenue backed up Miller's complaint.

Cornyn said he would look the situation over, although he was not prepared to give an off-hand legal opinion.

Mrs. de Wright jumped up and started to say, "And while you're up there, you might look at a similar situation on the east side of Park avenue near

"You maintain a discreet silence, Mrs. de Wright," Cornyn said. "I'm involved enough

"All in favor say Aye," declared Mayor Lees, banging the table with the gavel. "Carried." Councilman Henry Korsmeier moved that the honorary city cfficials, the youngest nine years and the oldest 12, be commended for their fine work in the city offices. Drawing special note was City Judge Carole Tarullo, 12, who sat in court with Judge John C. Mead. She had a couple of traffic violators.

"Five dollars and one day in jail," she sternly declared. The defendant nearly fell over from shock.

"No! No!," Judge Me riedly whispered in her ear. "Not five dollars AND one day -five dollars OR one day." During the day the kids toured the city hall, attended court rode in the police car and inspected the pumping plant. Other officers for a day were

Mrs. F. F. Wilson of 62 East Carter avenue complained to the police that someone stole part of her redwood fence. Five four-foot boards were gone from the fence when she took a look at it one noon. And they didn't WALK away.

Oliver Arnold of Arnold's Hardware thought he was seeing things the other day. He was. In particular it was a fire extinguisher being washed down the gutter by the rain Jockey James O'Rourke who rides the nags at "Hellywood Park at Santa Anita" put in a hurried call to the police de partment. He didn' know where he was calling from, and he didn't know who he was getting. He had just stumbled on one of the fire phones at Chantry Flats.

He asked the local cops to trace the call to locate him and then send help-with a blank-

He said that he had been given a ride. Only thing was that his erstwhile bar companion had ditched him at Chantry Flats after hitting him on the head and relieving him of his coat and trousers and $15.

posed publication, "Annals of Sierra Madre." The papers and many pictures gathered by the group have been prepared for coming publication. Stories of the first settlers, of the beginnings of the town and its physical growth and development have been edited and prepared for not only a colorful story of Sierra Madre but also a slice of the pioneering in all of Southern California. It covers a period which was the wedge between early Spanish settling and present day California. Advance subscriptions and information are now available for the volume from Mr. Jones or through the NEWS office.

Mrs. Mabelle Caley Barker reported on the meeting of last year when the guest speaker was Charles Gibbs Adams.

A moment of reverent silence was held for members of the Society who have died during the past year. Silent respect was paid to Mrs. E. T. Pierce, Miss Alice Tufts, Mrs. William Bovard, Miss Ella Sheppard Bush, Miss Therza North and Miss Hilda Humph-

The date for the next meeting of the Society was set for the third Saturday in May of 1950. A special meeting may be called relevant to the Society's publication of the Annals, however, Mr. Jones point ed out.
